

The American Revolution was fought because Britain had started 3 pointless wars and Black 1 the British won all of them. And they had went in debt 50 mercantillism had started and Mercantillism is when you have more exports than imports and so the British started taking everything and that is when the colonist got mad because the British was taking everything and doing the colonist wrong so the colonist ~~the~~ started attacking back like dumping tea over board the ships and stuff like that.
