

Charlestown Tea Party

On Thursday at Noon, (November 3, 1774) an Oblation was made to NEPTUNE, of said seven Chests of Tea, by Messrs Lindsay, Kinsley and Mackenzie Themselves; who going on board the Ship in the Stream, with their own Hands respectively stove the Chests belonging to each, and emptied their Contents into the River, in the Presence of the Committee of Observation, who likewise went on board, and in View of the whole General Concourse of People, who gave three hearty Cheers after the emptying of each Chest, and immediately separated as if nothing had happened.

Steedman, Marguerite, "Charlestown's Forgotten Tea-Party". Georgia Review 1967 21 (2): 244-259.

Reprinted with courtesy of the Georgia Review: <http://www.uga.edu/garev/>