I live in a small community. My little town has a library, a school, a firehouse, a grocery store, and houses with yards. Everyone knows my name. I'm Rover, Sarah's dog.

One day I went with Sara to the city to visit her friend Nick. All around us were tall buildings and sidewalks packed with people! The streets were jammed with cars and trucks. Sarah left me to wait outside the building where Nick lived.

I didn't wait. I explored Nick's neighborhood. I trotted past many stores. I saw a library, a fire station, and a school. I had fun in a park with other dogs. Then I looked for Nick's building. There were so many buildings, so many streets! I looked everywhere.

I thought, "I'm lost! Nobody in the whole city knows my name."

Then I heard, "Rover! Rover!" Sarah, Nick, and the three of Nick's neighbors called my name. I barked with joy. They found me!
