

Segregation is just plain wrong. We are all human beings and the color of our faces doesn't change anything. Drinking from different fountains is lame. It must have been really hard, and scary going to school in a time of such unfairness. Nothing can be more painful than feeling like you're not welcome because of your skin.