

by: Grace Jones

January 16, 1781

It was the night before the battle. Everyone was scared, worried, and nervous. General Morgan came over to the campfire. He started talking to us and cheering us up but we were still worried. It was so cold and snowing. Some of us were already sick and frostbitten.

January 17, 1781

It's time for the battle.

General Morgan gave us a plan to follow. It began. Major Tarleton fired with their guns and cannons. We fired back. Now it was getting hard. We began the plan and it worked but Major Tarleton's army kept running. We all got ready to fire and we shot them off. We were astonished! We won the battle of Cowpens!

The

END

