

Kiersten Naomi 11/14/07

What was your letter about?

My letter was about a woman talking about the west and how she farmed.

What was your letter about?

My letter was about a woman writing to her friends about what she can remember on her long jorney heading to where she needed to go.

Who was the letter written to?

The letter was written to Mrs. Coney.

Who was your letter written to?

The letter was written to Elizabeth Stewart's friends.

Who wrote your letter?

The person who wrote this letter was Elinore Pruitt Stewart.

How did your woman feel in her letter?

I think the woman in the letter felt mad because people died people left other people behind and they had to travel a mile for water everyday.

Did the person in your letter have good or bad experiences? Why did that happen?

My person had good experience.

What happened in your letter to the woman?

The woman finally made it to the place she wanted to be.