Dear Dr. Brown,

Thankyou for coming to Doby's Mill and talking to us about history. It is more interesting to hear it from a person who actually was there then reading it from the textbook. I learned alot from you like when you told us about you going to school with all whites. In fact I think that was my favorite part of the thing that I learned from you.

But there was one thing really suprise me was when you told us why you name your story "Dippty Doo Revolution." It was also suprising when I found out Dippty Doo was hair gel. Still I want to thankyou and thankyou for coming I bet everybody had a great time. When you can, please come back. I want to hear another fascinating story.

Sincerely,
